Knights and Ladies of the Holy Grail

Mrs. H. H. Lindorf.

Mr. Business Man, look up, you are called! City man, you are called! Mr. Clergyman, you are called! Mr. Boy Scout, you are called! If Uncle Sam says this to you, you will answer that call, just as the boys of Company M, or of Company C, have answered. You would immediately prepare for duty, but always royal; it is the King's highway.

We, of Janesville, have been called to duty—a Christian duty, a patriotic duty, a duty to our country and to our fellow citizens. We are called upon at this present moment to do our part in aiding the relief of the Armenian, Syrian and Palestine peoples. It is doubtful if the world has ever witnessed a more pitiful and compelling appeal, than this which comes to us, at this time, from the destitute Christians of the East. Through the misfortunes of war more than two million are driven from their homes and deprived of property and income.

They are entirely dependent upon charity for sustenance. Of these there are 400,000 children whose people have been massacred or died of hunger or exposure. The only way of saving them is by Americans providing the money necessary to purchase food, clothing and shelter for them.

Think of it—ten cents to save a life—and three dollars for one month. Cities like Seattle, Wash., have already recognized the call and upon a certain day send out their own members with their relief envelopes filled.

In Janesville we are answering the call through "The Knights and Ladies of the Holy Grail," a Christmas campaign inviting membership. By signing the coupon below and bringing it with your contribution to the drug stores, banks, or Gazette, you become a member and receive a certificate of membership to show you have registered at the call of duty.

Accordingly as you give, so will the good we extend, men and women, and increases so will "Peace on Earth" also be nearer.

Our soldiers can not accomplish this alone. We must all extend every hand to the relief of the Armenians, Syrians and Palestine peoples. Practicing a self-denial week before Christmas, and when it arrives, it will be all the more enjoyable. By so doing you will help the Knights and Ladies of the Holy Grail Christmas cup.

All Soldiers, Attention!

Clip and send or bring to any designated depositor.

Knights and Ladies of the Holy Grail

Enclosed my contribution for the cause of humanity and for membership to the Knights and Ladies of the Holy Grail. I will interest other people also in this wonderful work. I have your certificate at Gazette, any of the four Janesville Banks, or at any Janesville Drug Stores.

ONE MORE TAG DAY

COMES ON SATURDAY

Tag Day Saturday for the Y. W. C. A.

War Fund Should Raise Money Needed.

Tag day for the war fund of the Y. W. C. A. is planned for Saturday by the committee having this matter in charge. It will be during the afternoon and the girls in charge of the tagging will be stationed in the lobbies of the theatres, in the banks, and in some business houses. In deference to the extremely cold weather, the tagging will not be held in the open air. The committee met at a meeting held yesterday with their chairman, Mrs. Avery, expressed themselves as much pleased with the showing already made. Although the tagging has been done quietly in the organizations, made up mostly of women, there is over $500 already in sight, and more societies to hear from. The following are some of the organizations pledged to donate: Christian Science church, $100; Congregational church, $50; Presbyterian church, $50; Women's History class, $50; Congregational church, $50; D. A. R. society, $71; Athena Class, $15; Twentieth Century Class, $21.50; Philomathian club, $5. The returns are not all in, as there are several organizations that are making collections, which have not yet reported. Collections in country districts are coming in very slowly as the severe weather has made it hard for the collectors to go. However, it is hoped that Janesville will make up its allotment of $800, and that a fair showing will be made in the county. The Y. W. C. A. has been asked by the committee to make a special work near emergency work is done by women. Many other duties in connection with the strenuous conditions of the times are turned over to them as the organization best fitted to cope with these problems. Hostess houses near the contingents to care for the women coming to visit their relatives, are one of the things they have been doing as war work.

PARKER ASSERTS MICH.-WIS. MEN WILL SOON FIGHT

Battle Creek, Mich., Dec. 14.—Michigan and Wisconsin soon will have the satisfaction of knowing their men are playing an active part in the theater of war, Maj. Gen. Parker asserted today shortly after taking command of the Eighth division. "I have just given up command of the Thirty-second division of national guardsmen at Waco, composed of Michigan and Wisconsin troops, and they are ready to go overseas. By different study they have advanced themselves from near the bottom of the list, and repaid their debt of honor which was scheduled to precede them to the battle line."

Maj. Gen. Parker, accompanied by Mrs. Parker and his aide, arrived last night. He succeeds Brig. Gen. L. Miller in command, since the departure of Maj. Gen. J. T. Dickman for Camp Green.

Sufficient clothing and other equipment has arrived at Camp Green fully to supply the men now in camp and the remaining 25 per cent of selected men to be called. These men, numbering 9,000, will not be called until after January 1.

"Get the Drop" on Policeman.
Oshkosh, Dec. 14.—When they were discovered in the act of looting a fur store of goods valued at $2,000, two robbers "got the drop" on the policeman who had appeared on the scene and ordered him to "beat it." When returned with help the robbers had disappeared. Investigation showed that the men had piled up practically all goods in the store preparatory to taking them when the police officer surprised them at work.

COMPANY C MAKES RAPID PROGRESS

Co. C, 331st Machine Gun Battalion, Camp Grant, Dec. 14.—Many of the men of the 331st Machine Gun Battalion have pulled boners since reaching camp, but the prize boner of the season was pulled by a well known sergeant of Janesville, a member of Co. C. The men are still talking about it and it has been suggested by most of the men that Scotty be made to take a special course of instruction from Singing Director Arthur Nevins to enable him to distinguish "The Star Spangled Banner" when it is sung, whistled or played. The sergeant is a very bright young man and is known throughout the battalion for his thoroughness, but he made a boner at a meeting on Monday and it will take him longer to live down than it took Fred Merkle to live down his reputation for not touching second base. During a discussion at the meeting on Monday, Captain L. R. Foote of Co. C was quizzing several of the men on various points of military knowledge and he asked this sergeant what the national anthem was and without a bit of hesitancy the sergeant jumped to his feet and cried out, "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean." After it was too late he realized his mistake, but his second boner was drowned by the peal of laughter. Later in the day he was found trying to explain the cause of his error, but to the men of his company every alibi that he gave was only received with laughter and today he is taking his place in the boner hall of fame along with Merkle, Zimmerman and a few more.

Uncle Sam has given the men of the 331st Machine Gun Battalion their Christmas presents and the men of the battalion are very much excited over it. The presents came in the form of a bulletin that all the men of the battalion who were not on duty would be allowed a leave of absence from noon Saturday, Dec. 22, until taps on Wednesday, Dec. 26. When the news was read to the men of the battalion a cheering cheer was given and the men are now planning on the good times they will have back home during their four-day furlough. It will be the first opportunity the men have had to visit their homes for more than thirty-six hours since reaching camp in September. That is all the men are thinking of now. There will be very few that will wish to go home on Saturday, as they are all planning on what they call their four-day trip, and that is the only topic of conversation they can think of. They are thankful the government for such a fine present, and most of the men of the battalion are happier than a child on awakening on Christmas morning to find his stockings had not been forgotten by Santa Claus. The men did not expect such a thing and did not expect such a thing as this and it did them were wholly unprepared for the shock.

When people see a man walking down the street smiling all of the time they think he is crazy, but when they watch Private Thomas Farrell sitting on his bunk and smiling for hours they don't think he is crazy. He has just received a letter postmarked Rockford and it is from a certain young lady. That is the answer as to why Farrell goes to the theater so much.

Who put the pepper in the cake Monday evening? This is the question that is being asked by a certain member of Co. C. The young man claims that nothing more will ever be said about Cook James Collins forgetting to put baking powder in the cake. Private Oscar Sobel claims that he attended both dances, the one in Janesville and the one in Beloit, and that he enjoyed both dances but was very sorry a certain young lady from Janesville didn't attend the Beloit dance.

Who is the lady? That is what the man is asking Private Cyrus. Monday evening, as year day, he received a large catalogue from one of the leading jewelers of Evansville.

Private George Job of Beloit has been promoted to a first class position and claims it is all due to his skill in breaking in new pipes. Job claims that he has purchased five new pipes since coming to camp and that all of them are in first-class condition.

Sergeant Frank Byrne of Janesville seems very much interested in the coming holidays. Frank won't admit whether it is because he wants to get home for a few days or whether he is thinking of the presents he is going to receive.

Pitcher Harry Thompson, drafted by Washington from the Toronto club, was also drafted by Uncle Sam and was recently accepted for the national army.

Have you a house for rent? If so, let a little classified ad rent for you.

CO-OPERATION ASKED FOR IN STAMP SALE

Red Cross Organization Endorses the Sale of Stamps to Prevent and Fight Tuberculosis.

The women's committee of the State Council of Defense, through its chairman, Mrs. Henry Morgan, has asked the co-operation of all in the state to aid in the sale of Red Cross stamps. The seal is a product of the American Red Cross, and its consecration to the fight against tuberculosis carries the endorsement of that organization. The chairman for Rock and hospital supplies and knitted goods from Orfordville, and from a group headed by Mrs. Morton of La Prairie, show the splendid things accomplished by these workers. Another bundle of really artistic quilts for babies, made by the Saturday evening sewing class at the high school, shows what can be accomplished by children working under supervision. A new branch of work, which includes the making of surgical pads of sphagnum moss, was begun yesterday at the Red Cross shop. Owing to the high price of cotton, this article has been used as a substitute with very great success. The material is enclosed in a covering of gauze and is much lighter and more absorbent than cotton.

In Janesville at the present time there are nine cases of tuberculosis under the care of the city nurse, besides the many patients that are cared for by their friends and relatives. This shows the need of preventive measures even in local affairs. Rev. Henry Williamson is chairman of the work in the city.

A splendid spirit of co-operation is displayed by so many individuals and firms at this time toward the work of the Red Cross that mention cannot be made of them except in general terms. One hundred sets of clothing, cut by one of the overall factories, and 300 yards of gauze from a business firm, show the helpfulness which is a part of the every day routine of the officials of the Red Cross. Packages of clothing and hospital supplies and knitted goods from Orfordville, and from a group headed by Mrs. Morton of La Prairie, show the splendid things accomplished by these workers. SALE HELD BY THE GUILDS OF THE TRINITY CHURCH

Quantities of articles, both pretty and useful, were on display at the store on South Main street yesterday afternoon, where the Guilds of the Trinity church held their annual sale. Appealing specimens of home baking were presided over by Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Curtiss for the St. Mark Guild, and Mrs. Sager for the St. Agnes. In the fancy work department the goods offered by the St. Agnes Guild were in charge of their president, Mrs. F. Wood, and of Mrs. Len Matthews. The St. Margaret Guild was represented by its president, Mrs. H. V. Allen and by Mrs. H. Ford, and Mrs. W. Sayles. Mrs. Allen has been doing special service as a modern Peter Rose in making the service flags so popular at present. Many societies, firms and clubs have been ordering them as a mark of respect to those who have gone to the front. They are neatly made and very attractive. The display of fancy work included some very beautiful luncheon sets, decorated towels, pillow cases, aprons, knitting bags, and various other things both useful and ornamental.

Should the knob come off the lid of a kettie a screw should be slipped through the hole with the head to the inside of the lid and a cork screwed on the protruding end.

DAY EVENING.

consin Patriotic Press Association and pledges its uncompromising loyalty to our government in this war.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
This Associated Press is exclusively entrusted with the publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published here.

NO DANGER.

If this winter weather keeps on the way it is, no need to fear for the next summer's supply of ice. The condition, according to our country administrator, is brighter than ever, and enough coal will be on hand for all use if it is conserved and not hoarded by greedy individuals. With the present needs within reach and the prospect not otherwise improved, it is not otherwise imposed on the immediate future and the promise of a good crop of frozen food for next summer, why worry?
Look on the bright side of the question always.

DISLOYAL STATEMENTS.

Once more Wisconsin is held to the gaze of the general public by the alleged disloyal statement of a state official with reference to the Red Cross and the army work. Was it not bad enough to have our senatorial representative on trial for statements attributed to him, and now the alleged aiding of his son to escape the draft provisions, without this last shame having been forced upon us?
True, all three may be found not guilty or given a Scotch verdict of "not proven," but still it is the publicity that comes to us and the shame of it all that falls on the shoulders of the loyal men and women who are working so earnestly for the state and nation.

THRIFT STAMPS.

One of the finest ways to save money and at the same time give the little Sam the use of it, is to purchase the proposed Thrift stamps. The process of acquiring them is most easy and they are the finest kind of collectible. It has been demonstrated that the sale of the Liberty Bonds below their par value was one of the schemes of the German sympathizers, and the fact still remains that no United States bond has ever been worth less than par. It is a reasonable value. These thrift stamps will help teach the idea of saving for the future, and if this year continues will be a source of revenue later on. Start now. Postmaster Cunningham explained the method to the high school students, and it is easy to get the habit of saving if you once try.

THE GIFT CUSTOM.

The Christmas gift custom has been a recognized one. First there is the spirit of making other people happy. Nothing you receive yourself ever begins to count like the satisfaction of giving happiness to some other person, particularly if that person is having a hard time of it. Then Christmas is always the day of childhood. The best fun comes when you see the sparkle in the faces of the little ones. It is amazing how a cranky old man or boy of seventy feels himself limbering up as he distributes a bunch of jackknives and dolls to a bunch of rambunctious youngsters.
The other side of Christmas is more conventional and altogether too stereotyped. There are people that have a list of a hundred or more things to be remembered. By the time the last package is done up with red ribbon and holy stickers, they feel about ready for a rest cure at a sanitarium.

Many people look over their gifts with coldly appraising eye, and the amount they spend is just about proportional to what they get. That is not a nice Christmas.

In this year of war, Christmas should have a distinctive and appropriate character. It is interesting in looking over the stores in the stores of Janesville to note how practical the modern idea of Christmas is getting. Our merchants are doing their best to convert the public to this habit. They would like to see their customers buy goods of solid worth,
that will be useful in the household.

The thing to do then is not to select costly novelties that are merely pretty to look at. People should inquire around to find out what their friends would like in their daily lives and then they should anticipate those wants. It is with real satisfaction that one receives a gift of that kind,
for it always fits.

LAND HUNGER.

Some people are never satisfied unless they own a piece of real estate.
They want a corner of God's earth
that they can really call their own,
from which no man can drive them so long as they pay their debts.

It is a very beautiful and wholesome instinct, yet in the hands of undeveloped people it makes trouble.
The Mexican revolution was largely due to the land hunger of the peon.
The Russian peasant is so upset over his chances to get some land that he can't fight for his country.

After the war great numbers of aliens will come over here with the hope to acquire a bit of soil. Among our own people there is too little land hunger. Artisan populations dislike to tie themselves down to any one spot. They want to be free to pick up and go the moment a better job comes their way. This works against the enrichment of the soil in the farm country, and against the improvement and beautification of town life.

The alien that comes in here will take on some heavy burdens to get the title to land. He will pay down a small percentage of real money and sign up for a heavy mortgage. He works early and late with help of wife and children, and spends next to nothing for food, clothing or sports. He gets ink for outdistancing many of the native stock who are held back by high standards of living and more cautious spirit.

Any scheme to induce our people to take up the ownership of more land looks good.

When a man settles down to pay off a mortgage in Janesville he establishes himself as a substantial citizen. The more he improves his place the more he helps on the community.
People should have good courage about it. They should reflect that land and buildings will never be likely to bring less than now. If they pay down a small amount of cash, their equity on the property is likely to double in a few years.

TO MAIL FIRST LOT OF QUESTIONNAIRES

EXEMPTION BOARD WILL BEGIN MAILING OF FIRST FIVE PER CENT SATURDAY MORNING.

112 WILL BE MAILED

All Questionnaires Must Be Taken to Lawyers to Be Filled out and Returned Within Seven Days.

As originally planned, the mailing of questionnaires to registrants in this district, will begin tomorrow morning.
Over a period of twenty business days, five per cent being sent out each day. The first allotment, or 112 blanks, are all in readiness and will be mailed tomorrow morning.
Students of the commercial classes
of the local high, were busy today, dressing envelopes which are to contain the questionnaires. The envelopes were just received yesterday afternoon, so work was begun this morning. This is only one of the many ways in which the students are doing their "bit," and their efforts are highly appreciated by the exemption board.

Under the ruling, each registrant will be required to read over his questionnaire carefully, and on a separate slip of paper, write the answers which he wishes to make. He must then go to any lawyer, and have the blank filled out by him. After this has been done, the questionnaires must be immediately placed in the hands of the local exemption board, either by mail or otherwise. This must be done before a period of seven days has elapsed, since the date of the mailing. Failure to return it in this manner, makes the registrant liable to a year in prison, or immediate induction into military service.

Full instructions as to what to do and where to go to have the questionnaires filled out, are contained in each envelope, and the exemption board considers that any man not complying with the regulations will have no excuse, in each envelope, a notice, pertaining to the places where the lawyers may be found, will be contained.

row, is as follows:

POSTMASTER PLANS TO EMPLOY WOMEN

Postwomen Will Be Employed in Janesville As Soon As They Are Needed.

The day of the postwomen in Janesville is not far off, according to Postmaster J. J. Cunningham, who has received authorization to employ either men or women for mail carriers. He sees the necessity for doing so. Postmaster Cunningham said that so far he has received no application of women for the postal carriers position.

Women will be accorded the same privileges and the same salary that men receive. It is believed that it will be only a short time and Janesville will have an enterprising dame delivering mail. The expediency of postwomen has to be "talked over" by the large business houses in the city and the opinion is in favor of giving the women a "tryout." How postwomen will make their mark in the district
still remains to be seen; but no reports of disorder have yet come from Chicago, where fifteen are now working. The Chicago housewives are taking the new departure quite unhappily.

Those taking up this work in Chicago expressed the desire to be of service to the government and to be making themselves as useful as the brave women in England and France have done.

There were only about two of the original appointees that gave up their careers as mail carriers on account of the severe weather and their positions were readily filled by members on the waiting list.

BISHOP WILL CONDUCT SERVICES AT INSTITUTE

The services Sunday afternoon at the School for the Blind will be conducted by Bishop Webb of the diocese

that this is the last Sunday before Christmas there will be special services are open to the public and every one is cordially invited to attend. Services will begin at 3:30 p. m.

I. O. O. F. Notice: Wisconsin Lodge

lar meeting Monday evening. After

PAVEMENT WORK HAS NOW BEEN COMPLETED

In Spite of Many Delays Street Department Has Completed the Scheduled Work for This Year.

With the completion of the laying of the pavements on south Franklin and South Main streets, the contemplated work for the season has all been done by the Street Department.
Although many delays were expected due to the shortage of labor and the inability to receive shipments of materials on scheduled time the work has been done and the streets are now being used by the traffic.
Other cities in the state were delayed the same as Janesville but from present reports they have been unable to finish the work as contracted for.
In Beloit about half of the work which was expected to be done has been completed due to the failure to receive shipments of materials. Beloit has also been waiting to use the roller used on the pavements in this city.

Bargains in almost every line are to be found daily in the classified

ALL SHOULD AID IN RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

The American Red Cross has on its hands one of the world's greatest and arduous jobs. In order to do the work, the organization must have at once fifteen million members. It now has five million on the rolls and is campaigning to secure the ten million additional members by Christmas eve.

Every man, woman and child in this country ought to belong to the Red Cross. Being a member doesn't mean that one is expected to go to Europe, carry wounded soldiers off the battle field and nurse them in the hospitals. It doesn't mean that one need go to the devastated areas of France, or Belgium, or Poland, or Serbia, and give personal care to the starving, freezing, naked, homeless women and children there.

But it does mean that those of us who stay comfortably at home will do as much as we can in every way to back up the organization already at work "over there."

It does mean that the men among us will contribute our bit to help our brothers fighting the cause of liberty in Europe.

It does mean that the mothers among us will aid and cheer for the wonderful mothers of Europe and their pitiful babies.

It does mean that our young women will show practical sympathy for the young women along the "western front" and in Serbia who have suffered unspeakable cruelties at the hands of brutal enemy soldiers.

It does mean that our children be made to understand the cause upon the cause of humanity.

It does mean that each of us will do what he can individually to supply plenty of comforts for our soldiers fighting the enemy and necessities for the wounded in hospitals.

Scattered far and wide, as they are, for relief and Providence is answering that prayer through the instrumentality of the American Red Cross.

Now if it had unlimited funds but only a comparatively few members, the Red Cross would be unable to do the work before it. The first great need is for millions of members—the support of the folks "back home."

Do you now why our lads in the army and navy are acquiring themselves so creditably? Why they are amazing the allies by their bravery, intelligence and enthusiasm? It is because these lads are thinking of their mothers and dads and sisters and sweethearts and kid brothers.

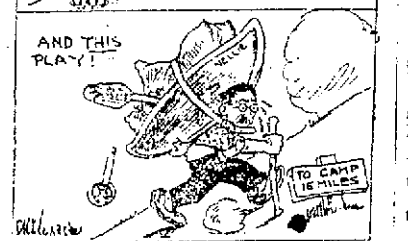

The same thing goes for the Red Cross. When all the dads and mothers and sisters and sweethearts and kid brothers in America show their interest and sympathy for the Red Cross work as members of the Red Cross and working members, why the Red Cross will cover itself with glory forevermore.

A year's membership in the Red Cross costs just one dollar. If one wishes to read the Red Cross Magazine for a year he pays another dollar. Join now. You will never spend a dollar in a better cause.

The Red Cross button is a badge of honor. Wear one!

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Ruth Stonehouse, Bluebird star, and more recently with Triangle, has signed a long-term contract to be featured in big productions. The contract provides for the producing of six feature dramas during the year, the first of which will be entitled "The Wolf Breed."

Miss Stonehouse started recently on an extensive tour of the larger cities of this country. She is appearing personally at theaters and meeting exhibitors. Three months will be given to the tour, after which Miss Stonehouse will begin work at studios in New York.

OFFER "CLEOPATRA" TOO. Do you remember the "Cleopatra" film in six reels, offered by Helen Gardner several years ago, immediately after her break with Vitagraph? Well, it is being revived with additions and will be released in a short time. All of the old features have been retained, and new sensational scenes added, including a battle scene with more than 5,000 soldiers. Charles Gas will be directing. It is expected that the revival will reap the benefits of the extensive advertising carried on by Fox for the Theda Bara version.

Maurice Maeterlinck's famous play "The Blue Bird" is to appear in motion picture form. Considered one of Maeterlinck's greatest works, the production was staged both in this country and abroad and occupies an important place in the annals of international theatricals. It originally opened in London in 1909 in ten scenes and took four hours to portray on the stage. The film version will present a big spectacular claim under the direction of the artistic Maurice Tourneur.

Bryant Washburn is busy at the Western Path studios, very busy, in fact, because his director, Richard Baker, is quite sick. Bryant is directing himself until Baker returns. The name of his latest photoplay is "Kidd and Ko."

Olive Thomas, the former Frolicker, having finished work on the Triangle picture "Betty Takes a Hand," will be in work immediately on her next expression, "Limousine Life," adopted from the Ida M. Evans story.

Essanay has just completed a scenic picture entitled "Salmon Fishing in New Brunswick." In the cast are Grantland Rice, Jack Laiz, Maximilian Foster and Hugh Fullerton.

Ashton Dearholt is with Bluebird. In his next release he will appear as leading man with Carmel Myers in "The Green Seal." He was with the American Film company for two years, and ranks as a popular leading man.

Who said there was nothing new under the sun? Maybe it was George Cohan, but anyway he's dead wrong. A basketball player playing on a team at Pioneer, O., has inquired whether a fencing mask would be a good safety device for a player who is near-sighted and forced to wear glasses in games. The player in question declares that he has had glasses made with wire in them but that opponents repeatedly jab their elbows into his eyes and shatter the glass. The player has asked some sporting goods people to procure a protection for him if the fencing mask idea falls flat.

Jeff Tesreau did not have a very good season this year as a pitcher, but he had the Giant horsem in batting with an average of .230.

TROCO

Made from the White Meat of the Cocoanut Churned With Fresh Milk

THESE are the ingredients used in the churning of this new, delicious spread for bread. This we are glad to publish. There are no secrets about Troco. We must label Troco as Oleomargarine, because no new laws have yet been made since Troco was discovered.

We use neither oleo oil nor hog fats—common ingredients used in Oleomargarine. Troco is made from the wholesome white meat of the cocoanut and pure milk. Is a nut-fat butter, purely vegetable and highly nutritious. Like ordinary butter, Troco is an energy or fuel food, but far cheaper.

A Nut-Made Butter at the Price of Fat-Made Oleomargarine

Please do not confuse Troco with common oleomargarine made from hog and cattle oils.

The use of the white meat of the cocoanut in butter-making is a recent European discovery.

Like Creamery Butter, it comes to the table a rich golden color.

Capsules, containing exactly the same vegetable coloring used in creamery butter, are included in each package. The coloring process is simple.

A Great Delicacy

Fresh, crisp Troco is a most natural food—pure, appetizing, easier to digest—not distinguishable from good creamery butter. And far more inviting than fatty oleomargarine.

Troco fats—pure nut fats—possess high fuel value, needed for bodily energy. And Troco helps to build and repair bone and tissue.

Your whole family will enjoy Troco-cord Bread. It is good for them. And it saves you much.

Try This Test

Just to prove to yourself the pleasing flavor of Troco—serve it to your family for a week before telling them.

It is the same golden color, because we supply the same coloring used in creamery butter.

Note their comments.

Then tell them all about Troco and ask them if they want to give it up. In these days of high costs, tell them how much is saved, too.

Cook With Troco

Troco is fine for cooking. It is excellent for shortening. The results are the same as if butter were used.

Try Troco in baking bread. On griddle cakes. For toast. Whenever you use butter. And use all you want—remember its comparative cheapness.

All who eat at your table will be delighted.

Much Cheaper

Troco is cheaper than butter—it costs no more than oleomargarine. As for purity—you know how nature protects the white meat of the cocoanut with a thick, hard shell. No need for a tuberculin test.

In a spotless creamery, which is approved by Government officials, Troco is churned under ideal conditions. No product could be made under greater care. Use plenty of appetizing Troco—fresh and crisp—and note how much you save.

Begin Now

Order a pound or two of Troco today. Your dealer has it—or can get it easily. Put Troco to a competitive test. Both your palate and your pocketbook will decide in favor of Troco. If you are not pleased, your money back.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Before I began keeping steady company with a young man of twenty-one, four months later we became engaged. This wasn't love at first sight, because I had known him almost a year. A short time after our engagement he went into another state to work. He came back at the end of four months then went away again. We corresponded frequently during his absence. While he was away I kept steady company with another young man. He was twenty-one also. He is very handsome and has very few faults—none of them bad. He is quite a favorite everywhere. Both of the young men have good qualities and are good workers.

The first enlisted in the army, but was sent back. The other is expected to be called at any time. The second also proposed to me, but I refused, because of my other engagement. I told him of it, before he proposed. The first has returned and expects me to go with him steady. Our marriage has been postponed until after the war.

Both young men have proved their love to be true and I cannot marry either until I am sure. I care for them, but admire and respect the second while I do not the first whom I am engaged to.

(1) Shall I give the second any hope for the future? He has asked me to wait for him.

(2) Can a maiden love a man whom she cannot admire and respect? I cannot answer. PERPLEXED.

(1) Break your engagement with the first boy, because you do not love him enough to marry him. It would be better to give the second boy hope until you are sure in your own heart that you love him.

(2) No, she cannot. Love cannot live where there is not respect.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy going to a public school and there is a certain girl going to my school. I would like to get acquainted with her. How can I? LONELY.

You are too young to be thinking about girls. Content yourself with your boy friends. Speak to the girl if you want to, but do not let her know you both go to the same school.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am almost thirteen years old. Over a year ago

BREADS.

Good WHITE Bread—Boil four good-sized potatoes in two quarts water; when done, drain off water and press potatoes through sieve into potato water; leave till cool, then add soft yeast cakes and two tablespoons sugar; mix and leave over night.

Next morning sift three quarts flour into mixing pan and warm; when warm add yeast, two tablespoons water, one of salt and one quart warm water. Beat to a sponge, let rise half hour and knead into big loaf twenty minutes. Let rise till light, then knead down again. When light knead between your palms and loaves and put in pans to rise until double the size. Bake forty minutes. Take out and grease top with butter. This recipe makes four good-sized loaves and one tin of delicious biscuits.

Cornmeal Bread—One egg, one cup cornmeal, one and one-half cups flour, one-quarter cup sugar, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one cup water. Add about one and one-half cups water. Bake in hot oven. Eat while hot.

Rolls Oats Yeast Bread—The following recipe is made with rolled oats to place in cornmeal as a flour conservator and will be found to be delicious, especially to those who cannot or do not like cornmeal (or cannot get cornmeal).

Put two cups boiling water over three cups rolled oats, and add one cup mashed potato (use potato water, if saved); when lukewarm, stir in yeast, one cup sugar, one cup salt, one cup water, dissolved in half cup warm water in which one teaspoon sugar has been dissolved. Cover and keep in warm place until light. When light, add one cup white bread flour, and stir in about four cups wheat flour and two teaspoons salt. Form into loaves and put in baking pans to rise. When light, add the same amount of white flour, and not let rise in one loaf and then try to raise again in baking pans as white bread is made, as it will not get light the second time. Do not use graham flour. Instead of white flour, as it will not prove a success. This recipe uses a larger proportion of rolled oats to the white flour than most recipes.

When making this rolled oats bread make white bread at the same time, using two cups mashed potatoes to one cup of warm water or the water potatoes were boiled in, with flour enough to make thick batter; add the other half of yeast cake dissolved with one teaspoon sugar in half cup warm water. Let rise until light, add enough white flour to mix so it can be handled without sticking to the hands; cover and let rise until light; form into two loaves and let rise again to double the amount. Bake in moderate oven until done.

If flour is warmed before using bread will rise quicker. Bread that comes up quickly is better than where it rises slowly.

Brown Bread—One cup granulated or brown sugar, one cup molasses and one quart skim milk. Two scant teaspoons soda and one of baking powder. Four tablespoons butter, or cooking oil and six cups graham flour.

Bake one hour and twenty minutes. This will make two large loaves.

Green Bread—Four cups whole wheat flour, two cups corn meal, two cups molasses, four cups sweet milk, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, two eggs. Beat five minutes and bake.

The secret of good corn bread and muffins is beating—good, strong, vigorous beating, and then beat some more.

band's past ceases to be a mere fragment of the imagination and becomes a visible fact. And you are saying to yourself, "but suppose she tries to draw him under her influence again? Suppose she would succeed." Suppose she would, made of green cheese. Suppose like the dear spinster who wept before the fire because she "might have married and had children and one of them might have fallen into the grate and got killed" you borrow all kinds of trouble! Wait till it happens, or threatens to happen.

"Then it will be too late!" you howl. Not necessarily. One can't begin a defense until an attack is made. Besides, dear, no attack is going to be made. Just keep your collar on and grin. Don't get frantic. Remember your advice to me, and my wild attempt to kick over the traces, which only resulted in proving that men hate a scene, hate anything that upsets their habits of life, and that in 99 cases out of 100 the wife wins when it comes to a showdown. Just you sit tight and let Paul disprove of this past of his. You may be sure he is as anxious to lay its ghost as you are to have him.

As for me, I'm getting along beautifully. Feeling quite reconciled, happy even over the prospect of a second birth. That is nature's provision. You may rebel at first but you grow to be glad. Lovingly, MAZIE.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

INTERCOSTAL NEURALGIA.

This condition is very frequent in women and causes a great deal of unnecessary anxiety, for somehow the neuralgia generally involves intercostal (between the ribs) nerves on the left side, and more commonly on the right side, and sometimes which supply the region over the heart. For the comfort of victims of such pain it may be stated that real heart disease, while comparatively few cases, is not accompanied by any pain or palpitation or other sensation felt near the heart.

Neuralgia (nerve pain) between the ribs is produced by the same causes that produce nerve pain in other places. Perhaps the most common cause is anemia—the nerves cry for nourishment. But that doesn't get us anywhere, for the next thing is to find out what is accountable for the anemic state, since no amount of medicine can cure anemia unless the causative factor is discovered and corrected.

Characteristic of intercostal neuralgia are the sharp stabbing pains shooting along one or more of the spaces between the ribs, with more or less constant skin tenderness over the affected area. Mild aches between stabs. Especially tender points are usually discovered at the places where the skin terminals from the intercostal nerves emerge to the skin, in one line down the side of the chest, in another down the front of the chest, and sometimes in a line down the back near the spine—points tender to the touch. Sometimes intercostal neuralgia is felt only in the breast.

Pleurisy may cause sharp stabbing pain in the side of the chest, usually nearer the base of the chest. But the pain of acute dry pleurisy is distinctly increased by the exertion of breathing, and materially lessened by very tight bandaging or strapping the chest or even lying on the affected side, whereas the intercostal neuralgia is not appreciably altered by these measures.

"Neuralgia of the heart" is a misleading popular name for angina pectoris. Angina pectoris is seldom confused with intercostal neuralgia, for it comes on rather suddenly, continuing for minutes or sometimes hours, then passes off, unlike either intercostal neuralgia or pleurisy.

Heart burn, a distressing sensation or pain felt under the breast bone or sometimes toward the left, comes and goes with some relation to the meals, and is promptly relieved by a large dose of saleratus or milk of magnesia or other alkali.

As an external remedy for intercostal neuralgia, milk counter-irritation on the back, near the spine, is helpful—mustard to the degree of slight reddening of skin, or iodine, or a belladonna and capsicum plaster.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Can One Have Too Much Blood?

Is it true that a person can have too much blood? (J. S.)

Answer.—No, it is as reasonable to think of one having too much muscle, bone or hair. The familiar theory of plethora or "too much blood" was advanced years ago to signify what we know is excessive blood pressure and excessive pressure may occur in an individual who has too little or too weak blood (anemia).

Insomnia and indigestion. I read the other day that "insomnia is almost always caused by intestinal indigestion." Is this a fact? (Mrs. H. L. C.)

Answer.—No. Arterial disease, heart disease, uremia from Bright's disease, anemia from various causes, and all sorts of nervous excitements may cause insomnia. The symptoms popularly attributed to "intestinal indigestion" may be present in these various conditions, as well as insomnia.

In Again, Out Again.

1. How can parasites be injected into the cheeks and removed? 2. If by an operation, will the operation leave much of a scar? (J. C.)

Answer.—Only by incision and the dissection of the tissues. Paraffin injection for the correction of cosmetic faults proves a sad experience in most cases, and the masses of paraffin injected become so intricately incorporated in the tissues that its removal is a trying and difficult operation later on.

When House Wives Should Know.

We were speaking the other day about coal and several people complained of the quality of coal they were receiving. Then two or three said they had never seen a ton look so small as it did this year.

Whereupon one woman spoke up and said, "Why a dealer actually gave me half a ton for a ton last spring."

"How did you find it out?" said someone else.

"I found it terribly small to me and I had Mr. M. (a neighbor) in and he said he had no doubt it was only half a ton."

"But how did you prove it?" persisted someone.

"Oh I didn't do anything more than that but my husband and Mr. M. and all knew it was only half a ton."

Few Women of Today Work Blindly

Used to be that daughters adhered strictly to mothers' methods of home management. They used certain baking recipes simply because they were favorites of former generations.

Times have changed radically. Colleges and clubs have been established for the express purpose of determining just which baking method and baking materials are best.

Many domestic scientists devote their lives to research and experimental work. They are constantly testing food products. They conduct exhaustive comparative tests. They accept and endorse only such methods and baking processes as have been found superior through scientific measurement of merit. These decisions are given wide publicity. The result is that the housewife of today produces more wholesome and perfect bakings at less cost than ever before.

I have conducted many experiments and have investigated experiments conducted by scores of other domestic scientists. My own work and the decisions handed down by other pure food specialists and domestic scientists—bring out the evidence that the overwhelming majority employ and advocate the use of one special brand of baking powder—which proves once more the old saying that "there is only one best."

I know that this baking powder has won its popularity among experts on merit alone. Because I know that they show no partiality. To obtain their approval a product must possess superiority. And that superiority must cover every phase of baking powder quality of material and action. It must be absolutely sure in results—never fail. It must produce the best grade of bakings—cakes, biscuits, etc., that are light, tender and tasty. Finally—it must be a baking powder that is economical in both cost and use.

Calumet Baking Powder is the one baking powder that has won the verdict of superiority and the hearty endorsement of expert domestic scientists—who like myself have proved Calumet's excellence beyond dispute. This superiority "sanctioned" as it is by eminent domestic science authorities certainly clearly indicates that Calumet gives the housewife the greatest of Baking Powder value.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

"Nice doggie! Nice doggie!" cried Billy Bunny, as he saw a black poodle dog jumping at him. For it was a black poodle dog and not any other kind of dog. Billy Bunny was a very small, black, woolly beast. And he was very glad, aren't you? It seems to me that Billy Bunny has had enough trouble for a while. Well, anyway, the first thing the black poodle said was: "Stop stealing that maple sap! Bow-wow, bow-wow!"

"Please excuse me, Mr. Poodle," said the little rabbit. "I'm very sorry. I've done any harm. But I only took a very little. Indeed I did."

"Well, I'll excuse you this time,"

said the poodle, "but the sap is not running very well this spring, so don't do it again." After that the poodle invited him to his little log house.

"This is where I make the maple sugar candy," said the poodle, showing Billy Bunny some nice looking brown cakes of maple sugar piled up in rows on a wooden shelf.

"Do you ever make buckwheat cakes?" asked Billy Bunny.

"Every morning," said the poodle, "and I just down those buckwheat cakes in syrup!"

Billy Bunny smacked his lips.

"If you'd like to spend the night with me I'll make you some buckwheat cakes for breakfast," said the poodle kindly.

So Billy Bunny spent the night in the little log hut, and the next morning he ate so many buckwheat cakes for breakfast that he couldn't button up his little fur jacket until the afternoon, when he set out once more for the Old Briar Patch.

Well, as he was hopping along, all of a sudden, just like that, he heard a voice singing:

Over the hollow, moss-covered stump.

"Why, hello, Tim Chipmunk!" cried Billy Bunny, tilting up on his hind legs, "what are you doing out here? Is it time for you to come up out of your nice warm burrow?"

"I guess so," answered Tim Chipmunk. "Old Mr. Groundhog says so, and he ought to know."

"Come over here, Tim," said Billy Bunny, and he took the little glass bottle full of maple syrup out of his pocket. "Do you want to know of things that are better than anything you ever tasted in all your life? Open your mouth and shut your eyes and I'll give you some lemon outstard pie."

But, oh, did he drop the cork in Timmy's mouth by mistake!

(Did you ever try to get a cork out of a bottle after it had got way down inside? Well, then, just think what a time we'll have getting it out of a chipmunk.)

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bemis returned on Friday after an absence of more than a week, during which time they visited friends in Lockport, Indiana, also spent some time in Chicago at the home of C. V. Spencer and family, he being a brother of Mrs. Bemis. They report a most enjoyable time.

Lewis Howe is one among the number who have purchased new automobiles.

George Dabson is out of town for a week's visit with friends in the northern part of the state.

Leon Spencer boarded the Wednesday morning train for Milwaukee and expects to return this Thursday evening.

Emory Rote will be employed to drive for Dr. Lacey during the winter months.

The children in the school have been doing their "bit" in helping in the war by selling Red Cross stamps. The greatest number being sold by Master Owen Trevorrath, who disposed of something above three hundred.

Doubtless there are many in this locality who will remember Joseph A. Downer, better known by the name of "Blackie", who made this town his home for several years, but who left here more than a year ago, going to New York, where he tried to enlist but was rejected. He then went to Pennsylvania for the same purpose but again he was rejected. From there he went to Toledo, Ohio, where he again tried but with the same results. Finally his name appeared among the list of drafted men and he went in as a private. Word comes from him from Louisville, Kentucky, where he is in training, that he has recently been promoted and now holds the office of sergeant and that all things being considered, he is well pleased with army life.

Quite a blizzard is raging this morning.

The Footville Poultry Association is distributing their premium lists and are planning to hold their third annual exhibition in the near future.

To Prevent Old Age Coming Too Soon!

(By Dr. W. Bower, M. D.)

Toxic poisons in the blood are thrown out by the kidneys. The kidneys act as filters for such products. We wish to prevent old age coming too soon and increase our chances for a long life, we should drink plenty of pure water and take a little SAGE.

When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that constant tired, worn-out feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain a little SAGE from your nearest druggist and notice the grand results. You will find it many times more potent than Lithia, and it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

WILL STAGE BASKET BALL DUEL SATURDAY

Fast Game Is Scheduled on Saturday Between Locals and Strong Beloit Quintet.

Saturday is the day set for another basket ball duel at the Y. M. C. A. The game will be between the Beloit Manufacturing Company's five of Beloit, which is considered the strongest team in Beloit, and a strong Y. M. C. A. team. The local five have received some bolstering in the form of several good players and have practiced quite a bit. The team work of the locals is very much improved.

The Beloit quintet have played together for the last two seasons. They have the team work down to a scientific point. When these two teams meet on Saturday night, Janesville basketball enthusiasts will have an opportunity to witness a classic in the basket tossing line.

In regard to the strength of the local quintet, Mr. Beaumont, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., said: "We are building a strong team and expect to have games with equally strong teams; but we need the cooperation of the public. They must show their interest in the work done by the basketball players."

The game is scheduled to start at 8:15 and a preliminary game will be played between two local scout teams which will start at 7:30.

1,000 PIGSKINS FOR CAMP SHERMAN BOYS

(By International News.)
New York, Dec. 14.—Regular schedules of competitive games, interspersed with regular play periods for the soldiers, each day in the war camp is being boomed at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O.

To state it as did Ed. S. Connor, athletic director of the camp, boxing is getting a pretty good pace for the other sports, but that probably is due to the fact that Johnny Kilbane is boxing instructor at that point and that a squad of men from camp company has been detailed to take lessons from the featherweight champion each day.

Regular schedules are maintained in baseball, football, soccer, basketball, volleyball, indoor baseball, dodgeball, quoits, and scaling, track, and other features of sport. The men are having fun out of it. Camp life and hard army work are winning for them more sports activity than a majority of them ever before pretended to enjoy.

The regular schedules of games are supplemented by group games, interspersed for an hour each day by company leaders. Many of the most popular games are used in this hour. For instance, there is swat tag, chariot race, hurdle race, three deep, Indian baby, and all the other games boys played when they were school-going kids. Two hours every day are given over to play the group games from 10:30 to 11:30 and competitive stunts between 11:30 and 1:30 on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and all days Sunday are set aside for recreative activities.

Recreational teams made up from among best players are formed at the end of each week for competition with teams with representatives of other camps.

Group games in the morning are compulsory. In the afternoon period some of them are allowed to sit aside and read.

"To date," said Connor, "we have used 1,000 footballs, 1,000 boxing gloves, and 1,000 sets of boxing gloves. That is some of the idea of the tremendous interest this camp has in athletic training along with military lessons."

Sport Snap Shots

There's no hard and fast rule in the army about granting leave to the boxing instructors so that they can get out and fill engagements. Battling Lewinsky has twice had to call off match because he couldn't get the necessary furlough, but was given one the other day so he could meet Bert Brennan. The fibbers couldn't get a leave and had to cancel a match with Harry Greb, but Benny Leonard gets a furlough whenever he wants it and keeps as busy as the ring as before he was assigned to Camp Cpton by your Uncle Samuel.

Pitcher Jimmy Rank, disposed of by Cincinnati to Chattanooga, got to playing in the south but President (term of the Reds has written him that if he expects to continue in baseball he should be glad to accept any job offered.

Rogers Hornsby seldom gets a vacation. He plays with St. Louis all summer, and generally with Chicago all winter. Just like Walter Johnson, he's the A. P. of the Washington team from April to October, and part of the Indians, White Sox and Yankees from October to April.

According to a truthful Chicago scribe fifty-six American league players, eligible and otherwise, have announced themselves, in response to inquiries, as not going to wait on the draft. They will enter at once in the branch of service. All right, can the government use fifty-six more yeoman?

The major league clubs' freights may be reduced at least one-half in 1918.

Tommies Sit On Corpses of Comrades In Shell Crater While "Minnies" Rain About Four Hours

Tommies on edge of huge shell crater, and charging across No. 1's Land.

By Major Donald McRae.

After looking around for a while, observing the havoc wrought by the explosion of our mine under the German lines, Captain Cowan and I walked toward the front on ground which, up to that night, had been behind the Hun front line. The first thing we found was a wounded German from whom he got a very valuable identification disc. This showed what German troops held the line opposite, information which was badly needed. We sent the Hun back, but he was too much blown about to live.

Next, we found a German officer, who had gone up with the mine. He came down when he landed on top of a crater, and was sizzling when we pulled him off.

An identity disc was also secured, but it was the same as the other one. During our wanderings we met a half-crazed German running around and collared him. He was dazed, but recovered and gave us much valuable information.

Hear Gured Men Trying to Get Out. On our way back to where the men were digging we got quite a surprise. While walking along we felt peculiar shocks in the ground and heard the sounds of blows way down under ground.

We at once realized that a dugout had been caved in by the debris from the mine. It must have been full of Germans who were slowly smothering to death down there in the dark, foggy form of death, and it was pitiable to hear their hopelessly frantic efforts to dig out.

I felt sorry for them, even if they were Germans, but there was nothing we could do.

I thought it about time to get to my own men again, so scrambled back to my place. Just after I left, however, I heard of two more counter attacks with heavy losses to the enemy, but not a thing showed up on my side.

By two o'clock everything had died down temporarily, and Cowan and I were relieved and allowed to go back and get our much needed rum. I then discovered I was a mass of bruises from flying pieces of rock and from being thrown about against wooden beams and other debris.

At the night I was so pleased to be whole and to have stood the racket my head was pretty well swollen until I found out that the worst of the enemy shell had gone over the trench. The rear trenches occupied by the men who were not in the storming parties at all.

Confidence Soon Puts Fight to Rout. But even this couldn't take away the feeling that I had done my job, and, while it didn't amount to anything, I was certain of myself and knew I would not fall down in the future. That is what I want to impress on all our men going over now. You may get excited at first and not use your brains like a veteran, but you will not be afraid of the next day if you have heard of one that won the Victoria Cross, was done by a young chap of twenty-one, the first time he ever went into the trenches.

After a few hours of comparative quiet the Germans opened artillery fire once more. They had accurately located the crater and posts by this time and probably had ascertained the exact position of our line. As a result, they seemed to have decided to blow that part of our line to pieces, and continued to fire the rest of the night.

A well-placed trench mortar bomb in one of the posts instantly killed an entire trench crew of a corporal and six men. Conditions were so bad it was impossible to remove the bodies that night or the next day.

At about noon the next day I went to see the O. of Number Four Company and found that it had been decided to keep an officer in the crater post all the time for fear of counter attacks. There were only two officers left in Number Four Company, and one of these was badly laid up with trench fever, so I took on the crater job from one to five in the afternoon.

And a beautiful job it turned out to be. Couldn't Move Out Bodies of Comrades. The day was foggy and raw and the trenches were full of mud and pretty well knocked about for a considerable area. Besides, our dead from the previous night were lying all around. The trip up to the crater wasn't exactly pleasant. On arriving and relieving the officer on duty, I decided to have a bomb shaker dug out to get some additional bombs by the trench. I also made a try at getting the gun crews' remains out, but had to give it up as the bodies were stiff and half buried under sandbags and were difficult to extricate.

About this time Fritz opened up in earnest, and the next four hours were as bad as any I have spent.

The most of the bombardment was done by a very heavy concentration of trench mortars of all descriptions. Of course, the big two hundred-pound "Minnie" was in evidence as usual. Besides this old friend we were that day treated to a profusion of "pine apples." This bomb is very well named and looks for all the world just like a good-sized pineapple, the fins on the bomb corresponding to the leaves on the fruit.

The little and big "Minnies," the "pineapples," rifle grenades and all the rest of the Krupp family began to arrive with great rapidity. They started dropping at the junction of our front line and our sap, and we began chucking at the poor shooting of Fritz. Soon, however, the explosions began to come our way at a regular pace of a few yards at a time, so we began to back out of the sap. As the hits got closer and closer it became more and more unpleasant, and I again began wondering what I was doing in such a place and why I had been so unlucky as to wander over Number Four Company that noon.

"MINNIES" ARE INVISIBLE BECAUSE OF DENSE FOG. One of the worst features of the whole thing was the fog, which hid the "Minnies" as they came over. We could not hear them. They came singing their ugly song, getting louder and louder. We felt that each one was the one with our name and number on it for sure, and held our breath during the entire flight. When the explosion was over, except for the large fragments or "humming birds" flying around, we would let out our breath with a sigh of relief, only to have to catch it again for the next one. The bombs came methodically closer and closer, destroying everything when they arrived. We backed out of the sap just as methodically until we were at the end and had to stop.

There we remained, sitting or lying on those corpses of our gun crew and helpless to move. It was rather ghastly under the conditions, and a chap couldn't help but wonder if he was going to look as nasty in a few moments as they did. We don't mind a nice, quick shell that suddenly arrives from nowhere and does its work in a hurry, but the slow-moving, whispering bombs that go way up and then come straight down so there is no getting away, are nerve-racking.

Luckily for us the pines were around the side of the crater. When Fritz saw the bombs bursting in the crater he thought he had gotten us, and stopped about ten yards short of our little hole. The Germans then managed to destroy everything from the crater to our front line and changed the shape of that part of the ridge, but hadn't been able to kill or wound a single one of us.

DISEASES OF SCHOOL CHILDREN DISCUSSED MY MARGARET MASON

(By Margaret Mason.)
Mathilda has the whooping cough. And John the chicken pox. This is the season of the year. That's very fine for Docs.
New York, Dec. 14.—No matter if you are in favor of the Gary school system or the common ordinary kind, there are three things you may be sure your kiddies are taking at school this year along with the three "R's" and they're whooping cough, chicken pox and measles.
It is only when they have graduated and taken a master's degree in all three that you can draw a sigh of relief and go ahead and invite Cousin Elizabeth and her children to spend Merry Christmas in your midst without the horrible possibility of little Eunice whooping it up at the last minute or Ralph Thomas breaking out with a measly rash and breaking up the party.

When I was a child long, long ago in Kansas I had measles and chicken pox quite free to break out when and where I chose with no interference from the health department, no quarantine, no fumigation or vaccination to cause vexation.

When my hair apparent had measles about five years ago in New York City, we were quarantined for two weeks with a bold black typed placard on the door that did much to offset the welcome on the mat. He was kept in a dark room and when it was all over we were fumigated so thoroughly that even our pet cockroaches succumbed.

When the hair apparent's small sister showed signs and spots of a measly nature last year she was as quarantined, unfumigated and undarkened as in the days of my youth. So you see fashions in coping with contagious diseases change like the cut of a coat.

The Swedish masseuse who is doing her desperate best to rub away my ditters chins told me when she was a wee girl with measles in Sweden they took her down to the village smithy and turned the bellows on her tiny body, which was covered only with spots at the time. I presume that was their idea of knocking the spots off of her body, but I am glad we haven't gone in for any imported styles of measles curing over here.

The very newest and smartest 1917 model for treating whooping cough is the inoculation method. A shot of the serum may not keep the victim absolutely from whooping it up, but it will shorten and lighten the duration of the whoops. Of course inoculations for typhoid, antioxin for diphtheria and vaccination for small pox have been quite stylish and much worn for sundry seasons, but inoculation for whooping cough and for ordinary colds are absolutely this season's modes. There are three variations on the ordinary cold inoculation model that apply respectively to cold in the head and nose, cold in the chest or cold in the throat. A dose of all three will undoubtedly make you cold proof for the rest of the season if you don't mind a little puncture now and then and here and there.

They even have a system of inoculating against hay fever now-a-days that is not to be sneezed at. It is true that you have to be experimented on a month or two before you can nual attack so that the particular pollen that causes your brand of hay fever can be located and the anti-serum isolated, but it is certainly worth it in the long run when you take the fact by the nose. But to return to our whooping.

By the time the modern child has been vaccinated on the leg for small pox, on the arm for typhoid and on the going away portion for whooping cough, he is apt to feel as perforated as a Swiss cheese or a porous plaster. The inoculation fashion is truly homesome to say the least.

Mumps seems to be the only taking little disease that hasn't gone in for any up-to-date modish inoculation improvements. It probably feels it is quite swell enough as it is.

Madison, Dec. 14.—Jokes galore are to be provided for the boys in the trenches. At least that is the plan of the credits at the state university. As a result they are busy with shears and paste clipping and sorting vast quantities of the latest jokes from newspapers and magazines. All of these will be assembled into joke books to be sent to France and also to the boys in the army cantonments in this country.

DANCE AT INSTITUTE FOR BLIND TONIGHT

Money Realized Will Be Used to Aid Local Chapter of Red Cross—
School Orchestra to Furnish Music.

The Red Cross benefit dance to be given at the School for the Blind tonight from 8:30 to 12:00 promises to be a great success and a large number of tickets have been sold. Quite a number of people of the city have shown considerable enthusiasm over the affair. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bliss, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mungleton, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Le... and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon are to act as patrons and patronesses.
A large orchestra of eight or ten pieces is in readiness to furnish the music. The hall has a splendid floor and every arrangement has been made for the convenience of those who attend. The admission is small—only 50c per couple, with 25c for extra ladies.

It is to be hoped that city will turn out in large numbers. Music is always furnished free by the Wisconsin School for the Blind for any worthy enterprise of the city and this will be a chance for the people of Janesville to show their appreciation of what this institution is doing for this community. The object is a worthy one. The money will all be used for buying material for the Red Cross movement. If you have no other plan for this evening, go to the dance at the School for the Blind. At least buy a ticket.

Friend Steals Money.
Green Bay, Dec. 14.—Too much sympathy from a friend is expensive. At least such was the experience of Chester Johnson, who awoke one morning to discover that his watch and several other things were missing. He told of his loss to Emil Pratt, a friend and the latter offered to help him find the guilty person and even accompanied him to the police station. Later Johnson discovered that he had also lost twenty-one dollars. Then he became suspicious and had Pratt arrested. The man admitted his guilt and will be sentenced December 17.

DECLARES SUFFRAGE IS NOW INEVITABLE

Washington, Dec. 14.—Woman suffrage is inevitable, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Woman Suffrage Association, told the delegates of that organization in convention here today in an address to the congress of the United States. Mrs. Catt said that woman suffrage became an assured fact when the Declaration of Independence was written. Mrs. Catt warned political parties that to postpone action further they would challenge the leadership and that when suffrage for women finally comes the superiority of political parties and of politicians will be doubted and their appeals to the new voters would be met with suspicion.

"There is one thing mightier than kings and empires," quoted Mrs. Catt, "and that is womanhood and political parties—the power of an idea which has come to move." The time for woman suffrage has come.

"The woman's hour has struck. It is a party's error to postpone action longer and that do battle with this hour. There is no doubt that the inevitable, when it comes, will be the party which has waited longest. Every delay, every trick, every political dishonesty from now on will antagonize the woman of the land more and more, and when the party or parties which have so delayed woman suffrage finally let it come, their sincerity will be doubted and their appeal to the new voters will be met with suspicion. This is the psychology of the situation. Can you afford the risk? Will it ever come? You have been too indifferent to give more than casual attention to this question. It is worthy of your immediate consideration—a question big enough to engage the attention of our allies in wartime is too big a question for you to neglect.

"We know you will meet opposition. There are female dolls and male dandies. But the world does not wait for such as these, nor does Liberty pause to heed the plaint of men and women with a grouse. She does not wait for those who have a special interest to serve, nor a selfish reason for doing, nor a selfish people of freedom. Holding her torch aloft, Liberty is pointing the way onward and upward and saying to America, Come!

The Daily Novelette

FRESH FROM THE COW.

If there was one thing that Silas Wafer liked it was pure milk fresh from an innocent country cow. But it seemed impossible to get it in the wicked city, and one Wednesday Wafer had a fine idea.

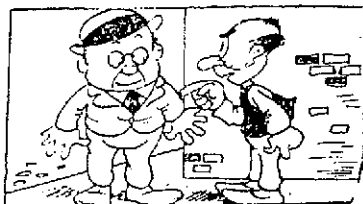

"I'll go out to a farm myself and make an agreement with a cowman to ship me a 20-gallon can of milk daily," he figured. "I'll make an arrangement with the neighbors to buy all I can't use, and in that way I'll not only have nice fresh milk but I'll be a blessing to the neighborhood."

Everything happened exactly as he had planned, until the first morning, the auction master at Cor's corner lifted the lid off the can, dipped two quarts of cream off the top to fatten his chickens with, and replaced the lid.

On the inbound train the baggage master and conductor removed the lid, took a quart apiece, threw in a clunk of ice, and replaced the lid.

The expressman who delivered the can removed the lid on the way, removed two gallons for his horse, filled up the vacancy with nice clean water, and replaced the lid.

The first thing that Silas Wafer did was to send the neighbors a can around to them. The next thing was to use the milk. The next thing was to feel decidedly worried, and the next thing after that was to answer a ring at the bell. It was the neighbors in mass, with brooms, clothes props and other weapons, who, aided by the milkmen whose orders had been suspended, chased him until he took refuge up a tree, where he died from thirst.

A POOR TEACHER.
Smith: They tell me you've taken your boy away from school. What for?
Dumpane: Because the teacher is so good! He tried to teach my boy to spell "taters" with a "t."

MUST SELL FOOD AT REASONABLE PRICES

Fred Clemons Plans to Watch Closely to See That Food Regulations Are Strictly Observed.

Rules and regulations which are to be followed by food wholesalers and retailers were received by him this morning and will be of much interest to the public. He plans to see that these rules are observed to the fullest extent by all dealers and will appoint committees to aid him within a few days. The communication follows:

"We suggest the appointment of the following committees:

- (a) General conservation of food committee.
- (b) Hotel and restaurant committee.
- (c) Committee on waste, to include inspection of garbage.
- (d) Committee to report on retail prices at stores on staple articles.
- (e) Price committee.

(1) One wholesaler, (2) two retailers, (3) one butcher, (4) one or two consumers.

"All wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers are under government license to obey orders from the federal government under penalty of revocation of license.

"Retailers doing less than $100,000 worth of business in food commodities are not subject to license. They must observe all other provisions of the food administration acts.

"The jobber and wholesaler who supply you cannot sell a retailer who is in judgment of those in authority is seeking unfair prices. It is, therefore, necessary for retailers to sell staple foods at fair and reasonable prices under penalty of being unable to get supplies from any wholesaler. The government will not permit the retailer to buy or hoard food products in excess of his normal requirements.

"Prices should be published daily in the newspapers, and if there are no daily papers, as often as papers are published.

"The United States food administration rules do not permit of sharp practices or rebates of any kind.

"Combination sales of all kinds with leaders designed to increase the unnatural turnover of certain goods, thereby creating wasteful consumption of necessities, are forbidden, except in the sale of sugar the dealer must require the customer to buy twice the weight of corn meal.

"Profits should be based on normal pre-war conditions.

"It is expected that all food will be sold on a basis of purchase price, without regard to the market or replacement value at the time of such sale.

"Butter, eggs, poultry and frozen fish must be marked plainly and conspicuously 'Cold Storage Goods' when of food for sale if they have been held in cold storage thirty days or over.

"The United States food administration recommends that the practice of merchants giving premiums or other goods with the sale of merchandise be discontinued during the war.

"Whenever any food commodity is short, the food administration recommends that price committees place reasonable limits on quantities of merchandise purchased by the consumer."

In England women are successfully employed on many of the processes connected with structural engineering and the manufacture of all kinds of boilers.

The members of the Daughters of the American Revolution held a most enjoyable meeting at the home of Mrs. Nuzum on Milwaukee avenue on the afternoon of Tuesday, December 11. The usual business meeting was presided over by the regent, Mrs. T. S. Nolan. Four complete infant outfits to be placed in the disposal of the visiting nurse were reported as ready, also twelve comfort bags completed and filled. After the business meeting a very enjoyable social hour was spent in charge of Mrs. Blinneweis. An auction of the presents brought to the tree was held and proved to be highly amusing as well as profitable. The money was turned into the Y. W. C. A. fund.

A program of Christmas carols was beautifully sung by the Misses Frances Jackson, Ruth Thayer, Frances Grainger, Hilda Wool, Evelyn Kavelage, Sybil Richardson, Irene Lewis and Clara Shawan, the solos being sung by Miss Shawan and Miss Lewis. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

Turnpikes.

The toll roads of other days were called turnpikes, not because they were particularly tortuous but because of the poles armed with pikes which were turned against the traveler in case he resisted payment.

Mrs. Mary Davis.

After months of weary suffering, the spirit of Mrs. Mary Davis passed to the world beyond at an early hour this morning. She had been in poor health for some time and her condition gradually weakened until the end came quiet and peacefully.

Mary E. Drummond was born in the town of Porter in 1852, the daughter of William and Marion Drummond.

On August 13, 1870, she was united in marriage to Charles M. Davis, and they made their home on a farm in Porter for sixteen years, when they moved to this city, where they have since made their home. The deceased was a loving mother and a devoted wife, whose place will be hard to fill. She was a member of the Eastern Star and of the Women's Relief society.

She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, three sons and two daughters: Will of Barron, Wis.; Charles, of Magnolia; Joseph, of Seattle; and Mrs. Susan Davis, of Seattle. She is also survived by one brother, David Drummond of Janesville. One granddaughter, Miss Martha Davis, was brought up from childhood by her and still makes her home in this city.

Funeral services will be held at two-thirty Sunday afternoon from the home on Main street, the Rev. Lawrence officiating.
